NODAL POINT // TEXAS COMMERCIAL ENERGY

Discovery Questions

Use this when you want the call to feel bigger than a rate quote. The job is to learn the current setup, whether they trust it, and what could bite them next.

WHAT YOU NEED TO UNCOVER

Do not lead with "are you responsible for electricity?"
Lead with the reason for the call, then pull them into the bigger picture. You want the supplier, the expiration, the rate per kWh, the all-in bill, and anything coming that could create pain.

SUPPLIER | RENEWAL | SPEND | CONFIDENCE | FUTURE RISK

LISTEN FOR

The lines that matter

- "I do not know when it expires."
- "We have just been rolling it over."
- "Nobody has looked at the bill in a while."
- "We had a few ugly summer months."
- "We are expanding / moving / adding equipment."

Discovery Ladder

SITUATION - PAIN - FUTURE RISK

01 Who are you using today? If they are not sure, ask who handles the renewal paperwork or the last bill review.

02 When does the current agreement expire? If they do not know the exact day, ask for the month and whether it has been reviewed recently.

03 Do you know what rate they are making you pay lately? I mean the cents per kWh piece, not just the all-in bill.

04 Roughly what are you paying all-in right now? If the exact number is fuzzy, ask for the latest bill amount or a ballpark range.

05 How confident are you in the current deal? That tells you whether they trust it or are just living with it.

06 If nothing changed before renewal, what would worry you most? Say worry or concern.

IF THE CONVERSATION OPENS UP

Ask about growth, a move, new equipment, or summer spikes only if it is real. Do not stack every angle at once.

DECISION RULE

One clear lane is better than a stacked pitch. Small accounts: budget, comfort, timing. Heavy sites: peaks, schedules, equipment.

NODAL POINT // TRANSITION AND CLOSE

Move from discovery to a real next step

The close should feel like a simple check, not a pitch. You are either confirming the setup, or you are finding something worth fixing before the renewal or the market forces the issue.

CLOSE SHEET

bill or 10 minutes

Transition into the close

KEEP IT SHORT

1. "Based on what you said, the next step is to check the bill and the expiration timing."

2. "If the setup looks fine, we say that. If there is an issue, we catch it before renewal forces a rushed decision."

3. "Would you rather send the bill over, or would it be easier to walk through it together for 10 minutes?"

WHAT TO SAY

"If nothing is wrong, great. If there is something to fix, we will know." "I am not trying to turn this into a big pitch." "I just want to see whether the setup deserves a second look."

IF THEY PUSH BACK

Already have a broker: "Totally fine. I just want to see whether the setup still deserves a look."
Send info: "Happy to, but I'd rather know what matters before I send the wrong thing."
Too early: "Fair. The earlier look is usually where you have more options."

Objection pivots

SHORT, CLEAN, HUMAN

Already have a broker. "Totally fine. I'm not trying to replace anyone. I just want to see if the setup deserves a second look."

Send me info. "Happy to, but I'd rather know what matters before I send the wrong thing."

Too early. "Fair. Usually the earlier look is where you still have options."
